Equity and Excellence for All Students

1. PURPOSE

The purpose of this policy is threefold:

To assert the Board's commitment to educational excellence for all students by centering equity-based practices and institutional barriers steeped in systemic deficiencies which have perpetuated student opportunity gaps.

To affirm the Board's unwavering commitment that all students in Las Cruces Public Schools are engaged in a culturally and linguistically responsive educational system that meets students' social, emotional, and academic needs.

To establish a framework that promotes learning environments that validate and equitably infuse all students' home culture, language, and identity, and one that affirms our commitment to eliminate the negative stereotypes of historically under-represented and marginalized cultures and languages.

2. BACKGROUND

The Las Cruces Public School Board is committed to the success of every student and to the mission of providing an equitable student-centered learning environment that cultivates civic engagement, promotes excellence, and celebrates diversity. We believe that the responsibility for student success is broadly shared by all district staff, families and our local community. We are focused on closing the opportunity gap and creating learning communities that provide support and academic enrichment programs for all students. Additionally, we believe that it is the right of every student to have an equitable educational experience within the Las Cruces Public School District.

The Board acknowledges that it is critical and urgent to institute a framework that addresses the inequitable educational opportunities that have caused inequitable life outcomes for under-represented and historically marginalized students in New Mexico. The New Mexico Constitution instructs the State to develop a uniform system of public schools sufficient for the education of New Mexico students. The Court's decision and order in the Martinez and Yazzie consolidated lawsuit held that New Mexico has not met its duty to provide an education to the state's "at-risk" students, including those who are economically disadvantaged, Native American, English learners, or students with disabilities.

The Board recognizes that educational excellence for all students requires a commitment to equity, which is more than a list of practical strategies. It is a lens and an ideological commitment. There are no practical strategies that will help us develop equitable institutions if we are unwilling to deepen our understandings of equity and inequity (Gorski, 2017). Equity also requires a historically informed critical lens, and ideological commitment to justice, and a set of goals, practices, and mechanisms of accountability.

3. DEFINITIONS

For the purposes of this policy, the following definitions are used:

1. Socially constructed identity categories: include race, ethnicity, color, ancestry, national origin, religion, immigration status, sex, gender, gender identity, gender expression, sexual orientation, family/parental status, marital status, age, physical or mental disability, structural poverty and socioeconomic status, language, or other legally or constitutionally protected attributes or affiliations.
2. Discrimination: includes intentional or non-intentional actions that are motivated by an invidious intent to target individuals based on their actual or perceived socially constructed identity categories, as well as acts of hate, violence, insensitivity, disrespect, or retaliation – such as verbal abuse, harassment, bullying, slurs, threats, physical violence, vandalism, or destruction of property – that impede or affect the learning. Discrimination encompasses racism, sexism, and other forms of institutional prejudices in all their manifestations.
3. Equity: an interruption of systems, structures, policies, and practices which privilege some students while marginalizing against other students. Strategies that promote equity are intended to ensure fairness and justice by the following:
 1. Countering biased behaviors that cause harm to specific groups
 2. Opposing unfair policies, programs, and practices that consistently result in negative outcomes for groups who are disadvantaged by these actions
 3. Negotiating, re-allocating, and sometimes re-imagining resources, opportunities, and supports when equal distribution of these things (one size fits all) results in inequitable outcomes that do not adequately meet specific needs and interests of all groups of students
4. Culturally and Linguistically Education System: An educational system where teaching and learning are rooted in the mindset that students' cultures and languages are validated and affirmed for the purpose of building and bridging the student to success in the culture of academia and in the mainstream society (Hollie, 2012).

5. Ethnic Studies-infused Education: Ethnic Studies is an academic field created by grassroots, social justice movements of the 1960s that centered on the struggles of communities experiencing poverty due to their race, gender, socioeconomic class, sexual orientation, and lack of equitable representation in institutions such as education, government, and even public media. Ethnic Studies as a field of inquiry, research, curriculum, and community-centered knowledge production is a partner to Culturally Relevant and Linguistically Relevant Responsiveness. Ethnic Studies provides the historical backdrop that details and explains the need to heal generational traumas through education that is equitable and representative of populations residing in a particular place within the broader global scheme.

4. POSITION

To achieve equity and excellence for all LCPS students we will provide additional and equitably responsive resources. To achieve equity and excellence for our students, the Board establishes and/or commits to the following:

1. Ensuring that fairness, equity, and inclusion are essential principles of our school system by fully integrating these principles into all our policies, programs, operations, and practices.
2. Adopting a teaching and learning culture that includes high and individualized expectations of students and staff, innovative teaching and learning styles as well as systemic supports for teachers and students.
3. Creating multiple learning pathways that widen access to educational opportunities and lifelong success.
4. Identifying and eliminating district policies, structures, and practices that perpetuate inequities and contribute to disproportionality of access and outcomes.
5. Establishing a district Equity Council composed of district staff, school staff, community experts, parents, and students. The Equity Council will serve as an advisory body to the LCPS school board and administration where they will identify inequities within current policies, practices, or structures and make recommendations ~~on how~~ to eliminate these inequities. The board shall hold an annual meeting with the Equity Council.
6. Ensuring that socially constructed identity categories (real or perceived) will not predict any individual's educational outcomes.

7. Providing high quality, culturally and linguistically responsive curricula for all students and teachers at all schools. This includes an ongoing effort to infuse Ethnic Studies into the K-12 curriculum.
8. Allocating district financial capital and human resources equitably on an annual basis.
9. Providing on-going professional development and support to all district administrators, teaching staff, and support staff in order to implement this policy to create culturally affirming and validating classrooms and schools.
10. Engaging with staff, students, parents/guardians, and the local community in order to build and sustain a culture emblematic of the ideals of this policy.
11. Attending training related to educational equity within one year of the establishment of this policy. Any newly elected Board member will attend training within one year of election. Board members will commit to attending subsequent equity trainings of their choosing offered at the local, state, and national level.
12. Expecting the equitable administration of disciplinary consequences as an essential component of equitable access to educational opportunities in schools.
13. Providing a culturally and linguistically responsive Pre-Kindergarten to Grade 12 curriculum that validates and affirms the home culture and language of students which accurately depicts and represents the distinctive contributions of the global and local communities. The curriculum shall enable staff to implement the development of the following attitudes, skills, and behaviors:
 - a. Valuing one's heritage and the heritage of others.
 - b. Respecting and celebrating diversity as an essential component to the health of a thriving community.
 - c. Valuing the richness of cultural pluralism and commonality.
 - d. Developing and promoting inclusive relationships and foster the ability to work effectively in cross-cultural environments; and
 - e. Confronting and eliminating stereotypes and biases related to individuals' actual or perceived socially constructed identity categories.
14. Modeling the expectations in this policy and expecting all Board and Las Cruces Public Schools reports, presentations, and decision making to adhere to the equity implications of this policy.

15. Verifying that instructional materials used in the Las Cruces Public Schools reflect the diversity of the global and local community, the aspirations, issues, and achievements of all cultural, ethnic, and linguistic backgrounds, and especially of those who have been historically marginalized.
16. Allowing for the submission of inquires or complaints regarding this policy to be made directly to the Superintendent of Schools or his/her designee.

The Superintendent shall promulgate a regulation for the enforcement of this policy.

4. REVIEW

This Policy will be reviewed on an ongoing basis in accordance with the Board of Education's review process.

Approved, Board of Education, President
